

In a certain society, 65% of the population have an undergraduate degree. Among those having an undergraduate degree, 25% have a postgraduate degree. And among those having a postgraduate degree, 20% have a PhD degree. What is the percentage of the population that have a PhD degree?

Provide detailed reasoning and calculation to support your answer.